

The greenbackers in congress imagine their party is still alive. They will soon issue an address for the campaign next year. Let it be done. It will afford them some pleasure, and at the same time have no effect on the public mind.

The reduction in the tariff as recommended by the committee on ways and means of the house of representatives, will not amount to more than $25,000,000, and is divided as follows: On sugar, of $12,000,000; on wool and woolen goods, of $3,000,000; on silks, $3,000,000; on metals, $3,000,000; and the amount placed on the free list, $2,000,000.

The Texas legislature, after making a vigorous fight against the sale of obscene literature in that state, has taken up the matter of temperance reform, and a bill will be passed prohibiting the sale of liquors. A large majority of both branches of the legislature is in favor of it. A report says "the bill is creating great excitement through the state, and already a number of liquor dealers are at the capital lobbying against it."

One of the reforms which the present congress will inaugurate will be the reduction of letter postage to two cents. On Saturday the senate concurred in the house postal appropriation bill, with the clause reducing letter postage to two cents, but before doing so amended it so as to make the reduction commence July 1st next, instead of the first of January next. The first of July is the beginning of the national fiscal year and an eminently appropriate time to inaugurate a change of this character. The amendment is such a reasonable one that the house will hardly have the courage to be stubborn enough to refuse to concur in the senate amendment. If the reform is to be adopted, let it come at the earliest practical time.

We notice that the late terrible fire in Milwaukee has moved the members of the legislature to introduce numerous bills to prevent a repetition of such a calamity. Of course every man has his peculiar idea about these things, and frames his bill accordingly. One bill introduced by Assemblyman Hooker provides that every hotel or building designated for the occupancy of 100 people or more, at night, must be provided with at least two flights of fire-proof stairways outside, in each case connecting the cornice with the top of the first story, and with a balcony on a level with each story which is so connected. Elevators are required to be constructed of fire-proof material. An electric alarm, communicating from the office to each sleeping apartment, must be provided. Efficient watchmen must be on duty from midnight until 5 o'clock in the morning. In addition the bill provides that all hotels hereafter constructed must have fire-proof partitions. Adequate punishment is provided for the violation of such precautions, and power is given to prosecute owners of telegraph wires interfering with the fire department in case of fire. Assemblyman Leahy's bill also requires fire-proof balconies connected with each other by substantial stairways. Senator Cottrill's bill confers itself to measures concerning elevators, setting off the sections made by the stories by means of iron automatic doors, which would prevent a large shaft for flames to ascend. A bill introduced by Assemblyman H. C. Adams aims to compel hotel keepers to provide each room above the second story with a rope ladder of sufficient strength to bear the weight of three persons simultaneously, and fastened securely to each window, so as to be easily thrown out. With this flood of bills on one subject, something will probably be done before the legislature adjourns.

The Cimbria Disaster.
LONDON, Jan. 21.—Details of the Cimbria disaster show that the loss of life must have been fearful. A dispatch from Hamburg, sent by the Hamburg-American steamship company, says that so far fifty-six persons from the Cimbria have been landed. A number of them are at the Meser lighthouse. The names of these are not yet ascertained.

The Cimbria left Hamburg on Tuesday with 350 passengers and a crew numbering 110. She ran aground before leaving the Elbe, but got off with the flood tide, with the assistance of the steamer Hansa, without any damage, and put to sea at 2:30 in the afternoon. Friday morning she came into collision during a thick fog off Borkum with the steamer Sultan. The Cimbria sank in a short time. When a boat with thirty-five passengers arrived the company sent out the steamer Hansa and four of the largest available steamers at Cuxhaven to search for the other boats of the Cimbria. The West Indian steamer Bavaria also left during the night with a similar object. The steamer Sultan, which suffered heavy damage in the collision, arrived in the Elbe.

The latest must be not less than 300.

Fire at No. 111.
FOND DU LAC, Jan. 21.—At this hour—9 o'clock—W. Cooper & Son's large boot and shoe store is all ablaze. The entire stock will be destroyed. Cause of fire unknown.

A Newspaper Editor.
O. M. Holcomb, of Bloomville, Ohio, rises to explain: "Of what terrible disease I suffer, for twenty years; couldn't taste or smell, and hearing was failing. Throat trouble often cured me. These are facts voluntarily given against a former prejudice of patent medicine."

DEAD-LOCKS.

Ferry and Windom Losing Ground.

No Progress in Nebraska and Colorado.

Ferry Losing in Michigan.

Democrat, Jan. 20.—The first ballot in joint convention of the legislature yesterday for senator resulted: Ferry, 53; Stout, 50; Hancock, 7; Barrows, 7; scattering, 15. The second ballot was the same, except a trading change in the scattering vote. Adjourned till noon to-day.

Minnesota's Four Ballotings.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 20.—The first ballot taken for United States senator, taken at noon yesterday, resulted: Windom, 53; Wilson, 35; Cole, 15; Dunnell, 11; Hubbard, 9; scattering, 22; total, 144. Second ballot: Windom, 51; Wilson, 34; Cole, 15; Dunnell, 11; Hubbard, 10; scattering, 33; total, 144. The third ballot resulted: Windom, 51; Wilson, 32; Cole, 17; Dunnell, 11; Hubbard, 9; scattering, 33; total, 144. The fourth ballot gave Wilson, 33; Cole, 15, and Windom 50.

The Colorado Dead-LOCK.

LINCOLN, Jan. 20.—The vote yesterday for United States senator was as follows: Millard, 16; Thayer, 15; Cowan, 11; Saunders, 12; Morton, 13; Anderson, 8; Brown, 3; Vignau, 6; Connor, 6; remainder scattering. Adjourned after one ballot.

Nebraska's Ballot.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 20.—The senatorial deadlock still continues. The vote in joint session yesterday developed nothing new. There was another caucus last night.

PROTECTIVE TARIFF ASSOCIATION

To be Managed by Gen. Grant and Others.

New York, Jan. 20.—A certificate of incorporation of the New York Association for the Protection of American Industry has been filed in the county clerk's office, by the secretary of state. The principal business, and objects of the society are set forth in the certificate as follows:

1. The promotion and dissemination of patriotic, economic, literary and benevolent ideas among its members, and among manufacturers, mechanics, workmen and others.
2. The promotion of such action, public and private, as shall lead to the development, protection, and advancement of the various industries of the United States.
3. The restoration and development of ocean navigation in American built ships, sufficient for the exportation of trade, commerce, and manufactures, and for the advantage and safety of the country.
4. The security of the commerce and improvement of the means of communication, and the protection of our long-continued service in important establishments, of their support in old age.

The following have signed the certificate as managers: U. S. Grant, L. Grant, B. Cannon, Edward H. Annand, Benjamin G. Clark, Solon Humphreys, George H. Butler, Charles S. Smith, Charles L. Smith, William A. Strong, James H. Burden, Fred A. Bore, Cornelius J. Bliss, Alfred R. Whitney, Daniel J. Appleton, John Beach, William A. Galtay, William A. Carey, Solig R. Fiske, Levi L. Brown and Dexter A. Hawkins.

Suit against a Railroad Company.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Alexander McIlwain, an English financier, has brought suit against the Reading road for $248,000, for denying the deferred income bond scheme and marketing $248,000 of that class of securities.

Taken from Miss Coffin.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 20.—Frank Coffin, a river pilot, died at Mobile, where his remains were placed in a costly casket and shipped home by express, with a C. O. D. bill of $134. A relative sued out a writ of delivery, armed with which a constable took the corpse from its elaborate casket and gave it to friends for burial, leaving the express company to return the casket.

FOR THE KING.

An Insurrection of the Legitimists Insurgents Throughout.

The People Rallying to the Banner of the Legitimists by Thousands.

Wild Excitement Prevailing at Versailles.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Further details of the alleged revolutionary organization are given in some of the papers. They mentioned the discovery of a legitimist conspiracy called "The Catholic Alliance," forming a vast association directed by Baron de Charotte. They declare that thirty-three legions have been formed in the west and center of France. La Voltaire declares that the rising in La Vendue is fixed for the 21st instant. Several officers of the army are implicated in the conspiracy, and depots for arms are said to exist.

The Paris says that Prince Jerome Napoleon regards that he eliminated from the draft of his manifesto the phrase: "Whoever may be the object of the people's wrath will be no more a chief." "Possible there will be no demonstration in his case for a few days. Princess Clotilde, Prince Jerome's wife, has arrived in Lyons. The Orleans princess are expected to resign their commissions. D'Oreano, bouapartist member of the chamber, posted out of the city's manifesto at his house. Persons passing by the house pulled the placard down, but the police refused to grant D'Oreano's desire for martyrdom.

LYONS, Jan. 20.—Prince Krapotkin, the Russian nihilist, was found guilty of inciting to anarchy, and sentenced to five years imprisonment, and a fine of 2,000 francs.

MARSEILLE, Jan. 20.—The wildest rumors are current in regard to the Legitimists' plot. It is stated that the Legitimists are working for the possibility of raising the forces of the Legitimists, the obvious purpose being to push on the Legitimists' plot. It is just possible a handful of Legitimists may be drowning of the possibility of raising the forces of the Legitimists, the obvious purpose being to push on the Legitimists' plot.

Thought I'd Ask.

"Father," he began, as he entered the library with a hesitating step, "may I ask you a question?"

"Certainly, my dear—a thousand if you like."

"Are you afraid of dogs?"

"Why, no!"

"Did a dog ever bite you?"

"Never."

"Did one ever try to?"

"Not as I remember."

"Could dogs bite you if they wanted to?"

"Why, I presume so; but I'm not afraid."

"Oh, you needn't be a bit afraid for I heard a man on a Sixth avenue car say that he was laying for a dog and would put you where the dogs couldn't bite you! He said you unloaded on him."—Wall Street News.

—It is an editorial conclusion of the London Times that "England can no longer exist without America."

"Don't Hurry, Gentlemen."

Said a man on his way to be hanged: "I wish I had a gun to get there." Electricity and Mill Fires.

In view of the great danger that is constantly accruing in the destruction of so many flour-mills, some of them are demolished so soon after being built, might lead some inquiring minds to ask the question, What is the cause. Who is the incendiary so constant in attendance and is so active in bringing about these mills in disrepair? It is unfortunately every mill of note has its night-watchman, who, if he does his duty as he ought, should be able to detect this mysterious agent if in the disguise of a man or other person. If not, some other and more potent agent must be silently and surely doing this work of destruction. Still the mill burns or explodes before anyone can tell the tale. This fire announcement is becoming too alarmingly prevalent, as in nearly every instance the loss is total. Might not this unseen agent be electricity, that is brought to bear when every other condition is prevalent, as the state of the atmosphere in its peculiar dryness, its electrical condition being such as to favor bringing about the danger and ruin, which are being held in readiness whenever such a state of things exist, and are brought into action at the critical juncture to cause an ignition with the floating atoms of dry mill dust? This state of things is believed to be silently and constantly going on in many ways, as I have before shown and written up pretty fully in the Milling World. Assuming this subtle agent to be silently and actively at work, this every day preparation toward bringing about these fearful mill disasters are constantly in progress in some part of the country, and would naturally call attention to an investigating mind as to what it is, or what can be this destructive force that is so mysteriously doing so much mischief, and is nearly as fast as they can be built. Being possessed of a somewhat inquiring turn of mind, let us see if we can make clear what to many is to them still wrapped in mystery. We will base our argument that this unseen agent is electricity, that it alone is at the bottom, and is the basis and chief cause of all the mischief. This being the standpoint from which we argue, we will endeavor to show that from scientific experiments made with fine-mill and elevator dust, it is conceded to be explosive. As electricity is produced by friction, and that in the present construction of flour-mills having so much iron machinery, and numberless feet of leather belting that are running at all speeds, such must produce a vast amount of friction. This is being increased within the building, this vast friction causing what may be termed frictional electricity, and is constantly being produced or generated by the revolutions of such machinery and belting running at all speeds. The atmosphere of the mill is thick with fine, dry dust-cloud, all the time absorbing or being impregnated with this frictional electricity. Next in order, how can we get rid of its baneful influence? Can it be done in a cheap and practical manner, so as to make our mills harmless and free from such danger of explosion? Can it not be diverted by extending a central conducting wire from end to end through each story of the building, one foot below and under each floor, the ends of said conducting wires to be attached to a building that lightning rod outside a building that communicates or terminates in the earth as any lightning rod does? By this means, if the electricity within the mill takes to the horizontal wires, which it might do by fastening a fine wire gauge to the horizontal central wires that would hang down like a cloth upon them to collect the electricity dust atoms, and so be disseminated to the central wires running through each floor or story of the mill, and so be conducted to the ground. The idea is novel, while it might be practical to so pass off the electricity as fast as it collects upon the wire gauge sheet to the ground. I only suggest this plan of safety for the millers' consideration, and they can consult with good electricians as to its practical working, if good effect could be obtained in this way, without the aid of a battery force to propel it to the outside conducting ground wire.—Cor. Buffalo Commercial.

The President's Reception.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President Arthur will have a public reception at the White House on Tuesday evening, Jan. 30, assisted by his sister, Mrs. McElroy, and the wives of his cabinet officers. This will be followed by a series of official and card receptions on succeeding weeks during the session of congress.

The Week's Business Failures.

New York, Jan. 20.—The business failures during the last seven days reported to R. G. Dun & Co.'s Mercantile agency number 277, compared with 202 last week, an increase of fifteen. The eastern states have 50; the western, 85; middle, 35; southern, 61; Pacific states and territories, 23; Canada, 12; and New York city, 17. It is to be noted that the failures are of a class incident to the closing of the year, which, though technically failures, might almost be expressed by the words, "Quit business."

A Lamprey's nest.

One day late in spring as I was passing over a bridge I chanced to see two lampreys, or "lampers," as they are usually called, engaged in building their nest in the creek below me. It was one of the most curious spectacles I ever saw in our stream. They were a few yards below the bridge, just where the water broke from the still pool beneath it, and broke with a rapid current over its roughly paved bottom. They were distinguishable from the yellowish brown and black stones and pebbles amid which they were working and by their motions. They were tugging away at the small movable stones with great persistence. I went down to the water's edge where they were within reach of my staff, the better to observe them. They would run up to the edge of the still water and seize upon the stones with their suction mouth and drag them back with the current and drop them upon their nest. I understood at once why their nests, which I had often observed before, were always placed at the beginning of a riff, it is that the fish may avail themselves of the current in building them. The water sweeps them back with the pebbles in their mouth, their only effort being in stemming the current to seize it. They are thus enabled to move stones which they could not stir in still water.

The stones varied in size from a walnut to a goose egg. When one of them was tugging away at a stone too heavy for it, I would lend a helping hand with my staff; I would move the stone along gently, and the lamprey seemed entirely unconscious of the fact that it was being helped; it would drop the burden at the proper point, and run up for another. Indeed, my aid and presence did not disturb them at all. From time to time, the larger of the two, which was the female, would thrust her tail with great violence down among the pebbles at the bottom of the creek and loosen them up, and set free the mud which the current quickly carried away. The new material thus plowed up was carried to the nest. Twice in the course of the half-hour that I observed them, the act of spawning took place.

Besides helping move the larger stones with my staff, I several times plowed up the bottom with my point, thus relieving the female of that duty. The fish took it all as a matter of course, and seized upon the pebbles I had loosened with great alacrity. When I thrust my cane beneath them and tried to lift them out of the water, they would suck fast to the stones and prevent me; but they did not manifest any alarm. These lampreys become much excited with the spawning, and build their nests in the crevices of old buildings, and large numbers of them do when it is over. In June it is not unusual to find their dead bodies in the streams they inhabit.—John Burroughs in the Century.

—Two years ago Wesson, Miss., was only a pine forest. It has now a cotton mill employing 1,000 hands, and nearly 3,000 inhabitants.

Address as above. N. B.—No risk is incurred, as thirty days' trial is allowed.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indications of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a recipe that will cure you. FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. LEMAN, Station D, New York City.

Mothers! Mothers!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of DR. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere at 25 cents a bottle.

Barbets.
—When!
—Hazel Kirke to-night.
—Thermometer 33 degrees below zero.
—The Hazel Kirke company are at the Meyers house.
—The Harper house now contains twenty-two boarders.
—"No mail this morning," was posted on the postoffice delivery window.
—Judge Patten gave a tramp five days rest in the bastille this afternoon.
—Yesterday morning was the coldest for several years. At 7 o'clock it registered 35 below zero.
—Mr. Ed. H. Birchill, of the Darling-ton Republican, was in the city to-day, and called on his former associates of the Gazette office.
—Rock river, between Milwaukee and Court street bridges, was frozen over with a solid sheet of ice, this morning, an occurrence which seldom happens.
—Out-door business in this city is very light at present. People generally keep close to a good warm store, and let the Manitous wave have a lone time of it with the outside world.
—By the bursting of one of the steam pipes in the court house, yesterday, some of the county officers were compelled to build fires in the grates to keep warm to-day.
—On account of the intense cold weather, all the schools closed to-day noon until the weather moderates. When school is called notice will be given in the papers.
—Mr. J. E. Sargent is one of the happiest men in the third ward, notwithstanding the extreme cold. He was presented yesterday with a fine baby boy and all are doing well.
—We are glad to hear that Mr. C. H. Payne, formerly of this city, who is now lying ill at Beloit, is slowly recovering, and his physician says there is a good chance for him to pull through.
—The Mutual Improvement Club will meet this evening in the parlor of All Souls church, at 7:30. Papers will be read by Seth W. Cashman, Walter Helms and Miss Charles Frichard.
—We have a report that Mr. Cornelius Stout, of the Monterey stone quarry, froze his feet badly while at work in his quarry on Saturday, but we are unable to ascertain the extent of the misfortune.
—Subscribers to the Daily Gazette, who do not regularly receive their papers, will confer a favor by notifying us at the counting room, or by postal card through the postoffice, of all irregularities.
—The opera house will be thoroughly warmed for the interesting performance of Hazel Kirke to-night. Especial pains have been taken to accomplish this, and we are glad to note that the management has succeeded admirably well.
—After waiting at the depot Saturday afternoon until after four o'clock, Judge Sloan concluded that he could not reach his home in Beaver Dam that night, and so remained in the city over Sunday, and opened court for Judge Bennett to-day.
—Mr. L. P. Abel, and family, went to Madison this afternoon, to attend the funeral of his little son, Carl C., who died in that city last evening, of inflammation of the bowels, aged fifteen years. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.
—Colonel W. B. Linton, member of the assembly from this city, and Mr. J. W. Bates, assistant chief clerk of the senate, started for the capital city this forenoon, in hopes of reaching their destination in time for the session of the legislature this evening.
—The circuit court is now engaged hearing the case of Neville vs. Clifford, being an action brought to restrain the collection of a tax to pay for a school house in school district No. 1, town of Magnolia. There were a good many people from Magnolia in the court room, as witnesses and spectators.
—The money order department of the Janesville postoffice issued one hundred and forty money orders during the past week, for $1,200.76, the fees amounting to $15; and during the same time eighty-one orders were paid, calling for the sum of $1,083.93; making a total business for the week of $2,419.72.
—This morning, Sheriff Harper turned four tramps out of the jail whose time had expired, and they started up town, but in a short time returned begging to be re-admitted. Two of the parties had their ears so badly frozen that the sheriff let them inside to thaw out, and will probably be cared for until the weather moderates so that they can be sent out of town.
—No comedy-drama of modern times has had the run that Hazel Kirke can boast of. Over one million people have seen it during the last three years, and crowds are nightly rushing to see it. This phenomenal prosperity of "Hazel Kirke" would seem to argue that our children will have at least one good, pure play to witness.
—This cold weather has its effects on the animals which are in winter quarters at Colonel Burr Robbins' farm. One of the monkeys was so badly chilled last night that it will die. The other animals apparently withstand the "wars" all right, by keeping close in their quarters.
—A special meeting of the common council has been called for 7:30 o'clock this evening, for the purpose of taking official action regarding the death of street commissioner James Chureh, and making arrangements for attending the funeral. All city officers are requested to be present.
—The funeral of Mrs. Knochau, of the town of La Prairie, was held at St. Patrick's church this morning at 10:30 o'clock, and was largely attended, notwithstanding the extreme cold weather. Father McGinnity officiated. The remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery.

There have been some invidious comparisons made in regard to the cost of trying the Clifford and Mack cases, tending to reflect unjustly upon the judge and the district attorney who tried the latter case. There were about fifty witnesses sworn in the Mack case, and the trial continued eighteen days, beginning usually at eight o'clock in the morning, and the court sessions frequently being prolonged until late at night. These important facts should be taken into account when comparing the cost of the two trials.
We feel called upon to preach a few gospel facts to those who are worth knowing. We want everybody to enjoy all that is possible in this world. We want all those who are suffering from rheumatism, neuralgia, and all aches, sprains and pains to know that Thomas' Electric Oil is an unfailing and splendid cure. Sold by Palmer & Stevens and Sherer & Co.
—Mr. R. H. Morse has opened an upholstery establishment in the building next east of Messrs. Rogers & Hutchinson's paint shop, on East Milwaukee street, and is now prepared to do all kinds of upholstering, and repairing. He will also keep on hand and make to order, all kinds of mattresses, spring beds, chairs, etc., and do all kinds of repairing in this branch of the business. Having had a large experience in the business, he is confident that his work will give satisfaction to all. Mr. H. L. Slocum is connected with Mr. Morse, and will act as canvassing agent for this business, soliciting orders for work from our citizens. We bespeak for Mr. Morse a liberal patronage.

Galant Rescues.

There can be something heroic in a medicine as well as in individuals. Berdoch Blood Bitters have effected many a gallant rescue among the suffering sick. Thousands have escaped the miseries of dyspepsia and nervous debility through the use of this wonderful medicine. It is emphatically the best stomach and blood tonic in the world.

DEATHS WORK.

JAMES CHURCH.
The death of Mr. James Church, which occurred at three o'clock this morning, will be a surprise to this community. But very few knew that he was sick, and no one supposed he was dangerously ill until Saturday night. For eight or ten days he had been confined to his home with an abscess of the lower bowel, which seemed to be following the usual course of such complaints, the patient being up and down and comparatively comfortable most of the time; but night before last the cellular structures of the pelvic cavity became involved with great effusion, rapidly followed by gangrene both of the external and internal parts, and although all was done that medical attention could do, the rapid change in his condition soon proved fatal.
Mr. Church was born in Pennsylvania about the year 1825, possibly somewhat earlier, and came to Rock township in 1850. He lived there twelve years, and then removed to this city, where he remained up to the time of his death. For many years he was engaged in building, and loaning money, and one of the three-story blocks on West Milwaukee street, is the result of his enterprise. During his residence in the town of Rock and in this city, Mr. Church had filled many local positions of trust. While in the country he was justice of the peace four years, and supervisor two years; and while in the city he was assessor two years, alderman of the third ward, six years, and at the time of his death was street commissioner. In 1878 he was the democratic candidate for the assembly, but was defeated by the Hon. A. P. Lovejoy. He was once married, his wife surviving him, and he leaves five children, all of whom are grown to manhood and womanhood.
MRS. MARY OSGOOD.
At 4:30 o'clock this morning, death ended the suffering of Mrs. Mary Osgood, of No. 40 South High street, in the fourth ward, this city. Mrs. Osgood had reached the age of 61 years. For nine years she had been a great sufferer from softening of the brain, the past five years being helpless, and for two and a half years she was unable to recognize any member of her family. She leaves, besides her sorrowing husband, but one child, Mr. George H. Osgood, of the grocery firm of Tarrant & Osgood, who will receive the deep sympathy of a large circle of friends in this city, and in the town of Harmony, where the deceased once lived. The funeral will be held at her late home, to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Davies officiating.

Some Remarkably Cold Weather.

The thermometer yesterday stood from 34 to 36 degrees below zero, and indicated a temperature of from 18 to 22 during the day. The temperature was not much better this morning, as at five and six o'clock the thermometer registered at 33 degrees below, and with a temperature of from 15 to 20 below, with a stiff wind from the northwest, the day was one of the most uncomfortable for out-door work ever known here.
This condition of the weather brings to mind the remarkably cold winter of 1875. There were more than thirty days during that winter when the thermometer stood below zero.
The first bitter cold day was Saturday the 9th of January when the mercury sank to 30 below. It frequently went to 10, 15, or 20, but on Sunday morning, February, 7, 1875, the temperature indicated by the thermometer was from 37 to 40 degrees below, the thermometer in the city not varying more than two or three degrees. Monday the 8th, was not much better, the temperature being from 34 to 36, but on Tuesday morning the 9th, was counted the coldest ever known in Janesville, the thermometer standing at 38 and 40 degrees from five o'clock till nearly nine. It looks very much now as if the winter of 1883 will be a repetition of that of 1875.
For chills, fever, ague, and weakness, Colden's Liquid-Breaf Tonic. Colden's take no other. Of druggists.

A Severe Accident.
The friends of Mr. James Gagen will be saddened at learning of the severe accident which befell him, at eight o'clock this morning, by which he lost the greater portion of his right hand. He was in the act of oiling the beveled gear wheel of the Doty mill, which furnishes the power for the box factory, and was obliged to go below the lower floor, into rather close quarters for that purpose, and being cold, he kept his mittens on. While putting the grease on the gear wheel, his mitten was caught by the gear, which drew his hand into the gear-cogs, cutting off the last three fingers and the greater portion of the right hand. He was taken to the office of Dr. Palmer, who dressed the wound. The thumb and index finger will probably be saved. This is a severe mishap to Mr. Gagen, as he is a hard working young man, has a wife and two children dependent upon him; he will be laid up for some time from work, and may be permanently disabled from following his usual occupation—that of a teamster, in which capacity he has been engaged by the Messrs. Doty for a number of years past.

The Railway.

In consequence of the intense cold, and the high wind of Sunday—the latter blocking the roads—all the trains on the Northwestern railway were behind time to-day. The train from the north was two hours late, and the express from Chicago due here at 1:40 will not be here till late in the evening. At four o'clock it was in the neighborhood of Crystal Lake, making slow progress northward.

The Horticultural Society.

The annual meeting of the Janesville horticultural society was held at the office of the secretary, Mr. E. B. Heimstreet, this afternoon, and was well attended, in fact, it was the best and most encouraging meeting of the society held for the past three years. The following officers were elected:
President—F. S. Lawrence.
Vice President—George J. Kellogg.
Secretary—E. B. Heimstreet.
Treasurer—J. B. Whiting.
Executive committee—B. Spence, J. J. R. Pease, David E. Fifield, James Helms, A. D. Wickham, O. P. Robinson.
The treasurer was instructed to invest the fund of the society.
The executive committee was instructed to confer with the Rock county agricultural society in relation to the annual exhibition.

Messrs. F. S. Lawrence and George J. Kellogg were elected as delegates to the state society, which meets in Madison in February.

The executive committee was also directed to make arrangements for an annual exhibition in this city next June.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

You Sin! Cure that cough with Collins' Cherry Cough Cure. It will do it. Justice & Evenson, the druggists, deposit the post office, warrant every bottle. It contains no opium, and for children is the only safe remedy in the market. Try it. Price, 50 cents.

Maggie Mitchell's Success.

There is no actress in this country that has seen so much success in one particular drama as Maggie Mitchell in Fanchon. She does not wear out. The Fanchon she played twenty years ago is the Fanchon of to-day. Her audiences have laughed over it, become grave over it, cried over it, and felt better for having seen it. The character has undergone no change, and is as fresh and vigorous as when it first received the surprised attention of the public. "This is so natural, yet so much out of the run of common things, so simple and unaffected, yet possessed of such a homely beauty, it so presents our emotion to us in the rough, unpolished by social usages and unrestrained by conventionalities of which the poor Crickit knows nothing, that it must ever be a favorite with those who have hearts to be touched and fancies to be delighted."
